Hillsville Murder Case Likely To Go To Jury Early Friday

ARGUMENTS MAY BE STARTED EARLY

Angeline Maravola Cross-examined During Morning Huge Crowd At Court

By noon Friday the fate of Angeline Maravola, who is on trial in Lawrence County court room number one for the murder of Michael A. Rich, Jr., should be with the jury. At noon today the defense had rested its case, the commonwealth had started rebuttal testimony and it appeared possible that arguments might start the middle of the afternoon. If they do it seems likely that Judge W. Walter Bramham will charge the jury by 5 p. m. Friday morning.

Angeline took the stand again this morning for the purpose of cross-examination. Former Judge James A. Chambers continued his line of cross-examination of Wednesday afternoon, reading a previous statement made by Angeline and asking her if she made the statements.

"I Don't Remember"
To all of the questions she had the same answers, "I don't remember. I don't know. If I said it I didn't mean it." She said that on the day of the shooting, February 3, when she was brought into the county jail she was highly nervous and doesn't remember very well the events that followed the shooting.

In one part of her testimony she contradicted herself to some extent. She testified originally that she was fearful for her life in the Rich home and that she shot Michael A. Rich, Jr., in self defense. This morning she said upon cross-examination.

Gloom In British Circles Over Latest Advance By Hitler

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 16.—Bitter gloom gripped British government circles today as authorities surveyed the central European situation arising from Germany's acquisition of Bohemia and Moravia, and on all sides dark predictions for the future were heard.

Scant satisfaction was expected by officials from a second British note to Berlin, demanding an explanation of Chancellor Hitler's action in breaking up the war-born nation of Czechoslovakia.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Lord Halifax, foreign secretary, reviewed the latest central European developments at length at a conference in Chamberlain's residence.

Britain "Double-Crossed"
Bitterness in London was increased with realization that—in the words of some authorities—Britain had been "smoothly double-crossed" Tuesday afternoon when the Wilhelmsstrasse assured both Paris and London that Germany contemplated no drastic move regarding Czechoslovakia.

It was frankly felt here that the

Anger Mounts Over Germany's Coup In Czechoslovakia Among Frenchmen

By MERRILL MUELLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, March 16.—Amid mounting anger among French political parties over Germany's coup in Czechoslovakia, Premier Edouard Daladier called a cabinet meeting for tomorrow morning to decide the French government's attitude.

Members of the cabinet must reach a definite position regarding the disintegration of Czechoslovakia before the forthcoming foreign affairs debate in the chamber of deputies.

(Background note: Prior to its breakup and eventual absorption by Nazi Germany, Czechoslovakia was almost a "French protectorate." Its army was trained by a Frenchman and its finances dictated by Paris. Under the terms of a now-vanished treaty, France was obliged to go to Czechoslovakia's aid in event of attack, but Paris and London decided that Hitler's seizure of the Sudetenland last September did not constitute aggression.)

Meanwhile, there were unconfirmed reports that Daladier may

Final Day Sees Tax Filing Rush

Estimate About Same Number Of Income Tax Returns Here As In 1938

Income tax returns filed by New Castle district residents this year probably will equal the number recorded in 1938, and the total amount of income tax paid probably will fall but little below the total paid a year ago.

That was the opinion today of James R. Long, deputy collector of internal revenue, whose Federal building office staff was placing all local returns in shape for forwarding to headquarters.

Some File About 12
Fifteen minutes before the 12 o'clock deadline for filing last night the office downtown was receiving filers, Long reported. The office remained open until midnight to accommodate the public. At 12, under the filing deadline fell, and those making returns after that hour must meet penalties.

No Figures Are Ready
Long could not release figures. He said his job of taking totals had not even started, anyway.

All day Wednesday and early yesterday evening the late filers streamed into the office. But the final-day crowd, however, was much smaller than in other years because of the new schedule of "information service" inaugurated by Long and his aides earlier this year. Many who at many times have never filed before March 15 or sooner.

The mails today brought to the local office additional returns completed late last night and deposited in the postal care before midnight. If the returns were postmarked before 12, no penalties will be added.

Bills Introduced To Wipe Out Last Vestige Of Democratic Control

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 16.—The James administration today opened its drive to wipe out by legislative enactment the last vestige of control held over by the Democrats from the Earle administration.

Bills were introduced in the legislature, shortly before it adjourned for the week, abolishing various Democratic-controlled state bodies and transferring their duties and those of other agencies to Republican-controlled groups.

In addition, the Republicans moved to take over control of the civil service system, extending the probationary period of some 6,000 workers employed by relief agencies and paving the way for their possible dismissal.

Effect Of Bills
The full effect of the bills would be to:

Abolish the state Turnpike Commission and transfer its powers and duties to the General State Authority, soon to come under Republican control. The Turnpike Commission engaged in constructing the $60,000,000 all-weather highway between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh.

Youngster With Assuredly Incurable Tumor Given Police Escort

(International News Service)
NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 16.—Given but two weeks to live, two-year-old Harold Holt, Jr., was rushed by a police-escorted ambulance to New Rochelle hospital today following an aerial dash from Pittsburgh in a last-hope effort to arrest inroads of an assuredly incurable tumor.

The handsome, blue-eyed boy was pale but smiling as he was lifted from a TWA plane at the Newark, N. J., airport by his mother and borne to a waiting ambulance. Escorted by motorcycle police, the balance was given right-of-way through the Holland Tunnel, suburban vehicular artery linking New Jersey and New York, and thence routed over fastest traffic lanes through New York City and the Bronx to save precious minutes.

Even the restrictions against ambulances using the Harlem river bridge over the Hudson were lifted to give Harold an extra few seconds in his race against death.

WARSAW, March 16.—Advance Hungarian patrols which fought their way through Ruthenia have reached the Polish border, officials declared today, and the long-sought common Hungarian-Polish frontier is now an accomplished fact.

Officials revealed that establishment of the common border will be declared formally later in the day. The advancing Hungarian troops encountered severe difficulties before establishing contact with the Polish outposts along the Ruthenian Polish border.

Fierce resistance by armed units of the Ukrainian national guard in Ruthenia (Carpatho-Ukraine) and heavy snow delayed their progress. At some points the Hungarian troops were forced to engage in bitter fighting.

Annexation Of Ruthenia Asked

Fleeing Premier Asks That Rumania Annex His Country

(International News Service)

SIGHEET, Rumania, March 16.—Injecting a new element into the tangled central European situation, Premier Augustin Volosin of Ruthenia (Carpatho-Ukraine) today asked the Rumanian government to annex his province.

News of Volosin's proposal was announced by the official Rumanian news agency a short while after the premier arrived here from Chust, capital of Ruthenia, now reported in the hands of Hungarian troops.

Volosin, accompanied by a number of his ministers, arrived on Rumanian soil as a refugee from the advancing Hungarian troops, which swarmed northward toward the Polish border.

The premier was followed by 2,000 Ruthenian troops which crossed into Rumania and an equal number of civilian refugees, including a large number of Jews.

Virtually all Carpatho-Ukrainian authorities had fled from Chust before the Hungarians entered the capital. Not all of them crossed into Rumania, some taking refuge in areas of Ruthenia not yet occupied by the Hungarians.

The situation in Ruthenia was characterized as one of "complete confusion."

Look In Vain For Over-Due Checks As Governor And Commission Heighten Feud

MANY EMPLOYEES BEING DROPPED

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 16.—Five hundred employees of the Public Utility Commission looked in vain today for overdue pay checks as Gov. Arthur H. James renewed his demand on the commission to cut expenses.

Semi-monthly pay checks were to have been distributed yesterday but their non-appearance caused no surprise among employees who have been following the feud between the governor and the commission.

Gov. James has insisted that the commission not only make cuts for March, April and May, but pare $1-100,000 from its expenses for the biennium beginning June 1.

Bring Budget Down
"I suggested that they (the commissioners) try to bring the present budget down," the governor remarked. "I think we can iron out the difficulties. At least, I hope we can."

On heels of the recent firing of 250 commission employees came threats that another 200 soon will be discharged.

PRAGUE, March 16.—The independent Republic of Slovakia today placed itself under "protection" of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, joining Bohemia and Moravia in the greater German Reich.

As the Fuehrer set in motion the first of the anti-semitic decrees which will gradually eliminate Jews from the social and economic life of his newest additions to Germany, Dr. Joseph Tiso, president and premier of Slovakia, sent a message to Hitler placing his country under the latter's protection.

Tiso's telegram to Hitler read: "With full confidence in the Fuehrer, Slovakia places itself under your protection and requests you to accept us."

To this the Fuehrer laconically replied: "Concerning your telegram, I take over protection of Slovakia."

Plan Anglo-French 'Last Stand'

Will Present United Front

President Lebrun To Make State Visit To London Next Week

BRITAIN SHOCKED BY DEVELOPMENTS

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
LONDON, March 16.—Shocked and disillusioned by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's bloodless conquest of Bohemia, Moravia and Slovakia, the British government made plans today for an Anglo-French "last stand" against Nazi imperialism.

The government, it was learned, is exerting considerable under cover pressure on France to send the strongest possible diplomatic delegation along with President Albert Lebrun when he comes to London for a state visit next week.

The object is to present a united Anglo-French front against the totalitarian nations. The precarious political position of French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet may compel Premier Edouard Daladier to overcome his present reluctance and attend Lebrun in person. General Marie Gustav Gamelin, chief of the French general staff may also be a member of the French delegation.

to the department of health. The housing board now is engaged in an $68,000,000 state-federal low-cost housing construction project.

Abolish the securities commission and transfer its powers to the banking department.

Change the civil service laws to extend the probationary period for employees of the unemployment compensation division, the department of public assistance and the 67 county assistance boards. This would give the James administration the authority to dismiss approximately 6,000 civil service employees hired during the Earle administration.

Establish a civil service commission in place of the present boards administering civil service in the department of public assistance, unemployment compensation division and the liquor control board. The commission would be headed by a director of civil service appointed by the governor at an annual salary of $7,500.

Plan Investigation
Appoint a joint legislative committee to investigate the methods of examination and their legality as given by the unemployment compensation board of review and the employment board of the public as-stance department and determine the legality of the status of persons employed under these examinations. Give the James administration control of the important board of finance by adding another Republican, the secretary of the commonwealth, to the board, which now is composed of two Republicans and two Democrats.

Transfer the state employees' retirement fund from the Democratic-controlled treasury department to the Republican-controlled state department.

Abolish the oil industry investigating commission set up by the Earle administration, and lapse its appropriation.

Transfer the power to appoint mercantile appraisers and inheritance tax appraisers from the Democratic-dominated auditor general's department to the Republican-controlled revenue department.

Wipe out the anatomical board as an independent state agency and reestablish it under the health department.

Abolish regional park boards, the park commission and the motor dealers' commission.

Transfer the board of undertakers from the health department to the public instruction department.

The bills were sponsored by the all-Republican special senate and house state government committee set up during the recent fortnight's recesses of the legislature.

results of the final disintegration of Czechoslovakia are bound to be far-reaching.

Premier Edouard Daladier of France, some circles said, may find himself hurled from office and the position of Chamberlain may be seriously shaken.

It was learned that in response to unofficial British suggestions, Daladier intimated he is unwilling at present to come to London for a conference on the aftermath of the German coup in Czechoslovakia.

Daladier pointed out that French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, who is accompanying President Albert Lebrun on his forthcoming visit, will have ample opportunity to review the situation with Lord Halifax.

Already there is a growing demand in Britain for an "all-party" or national concentration government—and a "house-cleaning" of the British intelligence service.

As for the future, it was felt that Italy, supported by Germany, will now boldly press her claims upon France for Tunisia and other French-controlled territories.

In so doing, Italy would be acting in the knowledge that Hitler's acquisition of the Czech Skoda armament works has wiped out the slight advantage over the totalitarian nations gained by the feverish Anglo-French rearmament programs during recent months.

Deaths of the Day

Thomas H. McClurg
His family and host of friends were shocked this morning by the sudden death of Thomas H. McClurg, 40 years, of 462 Croton avenue.

It was the second death in the McClurg family within six weeks. It was on January 31 that widespread sorrow was caused by the passing of Mr. McClurg's son, Thomas, popular young high school student.

Yesterday Mr. McClurg, a well-known baker, drove to a Pittsburgh clinic for an examination, having had some slight neck trouble. He returned last night at about 10:30, stopped at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Hamill, 504 Croton avenue, for a short time, and then went home to retire, intending to go to work this morning. He passed away at 5:30 a. m., probably from a heart attack.

Mr. McClurg was born in Butler county on September 20, 1898, son of Rush A. and Jennie Ann McClurg. He is survived by his wife, Gladys L. Hamill McClurg, one daughter, Patricia Ann, at home, and the following brothers and sisters: John, Harold and Butch, of New Castle, Albert of Beaver, and Leila of New York City. He was a member of the Second United Presbyterian church and the Married People's Bible class. For the past two years he had been a baker for the Jefferson Baking company. Previously, for 17 years, he had been with the O. C. Orr Baking company. Funeral services will be conducted from the J. V. Hamill residence, 504 Croton avenue, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, with Rev. J. Calvin Rose of the Second United Presbyterian church in charge. Interment will be in Graceland cemetery.

George J. Jones.

George J. Jones, of Walmo, formerly of Mahoningtown for many years, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital this morning at 5:30 o'clock, following an illness of some time. He had been in the hospital since a week ago last Monday, and reached his 70th birthday last Sunday, March 12.

Mr. Jones, who was a boiler maker by trade, came to Mahoningtown from the Pittsburgh district about 50 years ago. He was with the Pennsylvania Railroad for a long time, and later became general boiler foreman for the B. & O., continuing that position until he was pensioned.

He was very well known and his death brings sadness to a great many friends. Most of his life was passed in Mahoningtown, the family moving to Walmo just a few years ago. Mr. Jones was a member of the B. P. O. E., Lodge No. 69, of New Castle.

His wife, Adda Martin Jones, two sons, Kenneth of Trafford City, Pa., and P. M. of Chicago, Ill., one sister, Mrs. Margaret Gault, and two brothers, Walter and Joseph, of the Pittsburgh district, survive.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later. Burial will probably be at Washington, Pa.

Relatives and friends of the couple filled the funeral home to capacity. Seldom is such a huge array of beautiful floral pieces seen at a funeral. It was a touching demonstration of regard for the deceased couple.

Rev. Dr. Norris White of Titusville, a former pastor, and Rev. Dr. F. S. Neigh, teacher of the Men's Bible class.

About 7:45 this morning, when large snowflakes passed over the windows on their way to earth, we were reminded that old king Winter is loath to leave us, and within half an hour, old king Sol forced himself through the clouds, in all his splendor. It seemed as if Winter and Spring were fighting for supremacy.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

INFANT SIGNS NOT TO OBEY
Doctors constantly run across superstitions that are not only ridiculous but often actually endanger the lives of their patients. The child psychologist experiences his share of superstitions, too, in his investigations and study.

I know my readers are intelligent enough not to take too seriously some of the things that follow in this article. I am listing some superstitions to be found even today, with the hope that all my readers will see how very absurd it is to believe in such nonsense. My comments are in parenthesis.

Change His Name
To cure a baby of being cross, change its name.

A leaf from the Bible pasted on the baby's dress keeps it quiet. (It might while it is being pasted, but it's hard on the Bible.)

Put a noisy child three times through a ladder and he will be quiet (until he gets over the thrill from the ride).

To quiet a child which persists in crying, seat it on the mother's wedding gown. (And after there is no gown what?)

Do not go for the first time into a room where an infant is without removing veils and gloves. (Of course not; show him more respect.)

It bodes ill for a child when a cat seems extremely attached to it. (That's too much for me.)

Knife Okay?

It's a superstition not to cut an infant's nails with scissors, or any edged tool; otherwise it is feared the child will become a thief.

An old belief is that if the first trimmings of the child's nails are buried under an ash tree the child will be a good singer. (Too bad my parents didn't know that.)

If you wish to see if your baby is smart, lay a pair of scissors before him and if he grabs for them he will be clever. (Awfully dumb if he doesn't.)

Just Greedy?

A certain father I know believed he could feed early vocational guidance with his year-old son in this way: He would place before him a bottle, a Bible and a silver dollar.

If he reached for the Bible he would be a preacher; if for the bottle, a bartender; if for the dollar, a merchant. The youngster grabbed them all as quickly as possible.

When a child is a dirt-eater, tie a dead frog on his left arm; it will cure him. (Until after he has eaten the frog.)

A cure for whooping cough is to put a live frog into a child's mouth. (The cure lasts until frog is swallowed; there aren't enough frogs.)

Cure for man with whooping cough: Sit on a grave.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE LITTLE THINGS

Oh, it's just the little homely things, the unobtrusive friendly things, the "won't-you-let-me-help-you" things that make our pathway light. And it's just the jolly joking things, the "never-mind-the-trouble" things, the "laugh-with-me-it's-funny" things, that make the world seem bright. For all the countless famous things, the wondrous record-breaking things, those "never-can-be-equalled" things, that all the papers cite, are not like little human things, the "every-day-encountered" things, the "just-because-I-like-you" things that make us happy-like. So, here's to all the little things, the "done-and-then-forgotten" things, those "oh-it's-simply-nothing" things that make life worth the fight.

It's all right to be frank. But don't expect people to like you if you are frank.

GLOBE TROTTER
Our nominee today for the world's greatest traveler is hereby presented. It is the book, "The Way in Which It Is Passed," by think, qualifies it as an even greater traveler than our old enemy, the malicious rumor.

The State Liquor Control board is beginning to get real tough. The practice of giving "free beer and Dutch lunches" by breweries has been banned. This is going to be mighty tough on a lot of people who make a practice of hanging around the foam factories.

TRUE AND TIMELY
I think that I shall never see A plant untidy as a tree.

A tree which drops its leaves all day For me to rake and take away.

A tree which wears in summer heat A gown of green from head to feet.

But when the autumn breezes blow It lets its fancy raiment go.

And welcomes bitter winter weather By going nudist altogether.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:08. Sun rises tomorrow 6:09.

Americans spend $200,000,000 annually for soft drinks. But just think how many automobiles that takes out of the ever-growing Sunday traffic.

A judge in Texas asserts that there is much to be said against our present system of taxation. He probably means, repeated.

A St. Louis man who has driven 375,000 miles without an accident in 22 years of driving, says he would rather be a live pessimist than a bartender; if for the dollar, a merchant. The youngster grabbed them all as quickly as possible.

When a child is a dirt-eater, tie a dead frog on his left arm; it will cure him. (Until after he has eaten the frog.)

A cure for whooping cough is to put a live frog into a child's mouth. (The cure lasts until frog is swallowed; there aren't enough frogs.)

Cure for man with whooping cough: Sit on a grave.

Impracticable as it may be, the war referendum plan at least a badge of American anti-militarism. The very fact that it is being suggested is indicative of widespread acceptance of the proposition that this country's best bet in international affairs is to stay home and mind its own business.

Leading educators are at odds over the teaching of history in the nation's schools.

One group maintains that the subject should be presented so as to emphasize America's glamorous past. Another group contends that what's needed is greater truth, realism and accuracy.

However, it scarcely seems that these points of view are irreconcilable. Certainly American history need not be distorted in order to exemplify heroism, statesmanship and patriotic accomplishments.

The effective teacher of history is he who gives way neither to false pride nor to ill-considered cynicism.

A frank and unvarnished portrayal of the nation's progress is enough to imbue any child with that love of country which is the basic essential of good citizenship.

Will a spring ever come when boys will not play marbles? Probably not. Governments and constitutions and economic systems may change and even undergo revolution, but probably 5000 years from now, boys will be playing marbles just as they do now.

The various games played with marbles constitute one of the oldest sports in the world. The game is practically universal today, played in all lands. Something about the little rolling spheres fascinates the young mind everywhere. Very few boys pass through the youngster age without a period when they contend at this game.

During recent years efforts have been made by various organizations for youth, to systematize this sport. Contests in marble playing have been held, with great numbers of boys contending for marble championships. The game is used to teach boys lessons of fair play.

A campaign more than ever resolute is under way to rob the aurora borealis of its secrets. For centuries this strange phenomenon has fired the imagination of scientists and of late years much valuable data has been organized. But a great deal remains to be learned. The effort has now been made international in scope.

This offensive, waged by specialists of many lands, is not altogether a matter of scientific curiosity; for in this age of electrical development the Northern Lights represent frequently an inimitable force of greater or less potency.

Many an otherwise good night for radio reception is ruined by the mischievous Aurora Borealis. It has even been caught upsetting telegraph communication in the United States—charging the wires with excess electricity and making it impossible for a time to send messages.

It is not thought likely, however, that even with international mass formation and the aid of all the resources of modern science that this ancient wild spirit of the north can be brought to bay without a prolonged struggle.

Report of the Dent Tax Commission confirms the conclusions reached that the tax policies of the Earle administration and the constant threat of further business taxation were driving industry to locations outside the state.

Governor Earle led the clamor of Democratic denials. How groundless were these denials was shown by the testimony given before the Dent Commission and by the pigeonholing of the commission's final report until the state elections were over.

The election of Governor James placed at the head of the state government a man who is willing and eager to do everything practicable to encourage business and reduce the tax burden. A survey of business in Pennsylvania at the present time would disclose an entirely different attitude than that evident when the Dent Commission was engaged in feeling industry's pulse. State taxes are still too high, but business knows that as soon as the debris of the Democratic deficits is cleared up, as soon as the state's financial condition permits, the tax load will be lightened.

What's What At A Glance

Trade Agreements Have Won Brazil Pacts With South America Valuable South American's Word Better Than Bond

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The recently arranged politico-economic hook-up between the United States and Brazil is the most important development in Pan-American history. It might be important on paper only, but this is one of the times when a diplomatic bargain appears to be the real thing.

Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha of the southern republic handled his country's end of the preliminary negotiations during his late visit on our side of the equator. Secretary of State Hull nominally handled Uncle Sam's end, but I'd venture a guess that Undersecretary Sumner Welles attended to most of the details. Welles knows our southern neighbors perhaps better than any other North American diplomat does. He's sympathetic toward them, he's on the level, and at the same time he's shrewd. He's spent much time in that part of the world and is thoroughly familiar with its temperamental peculiarities.

The average Latin American is odd from our Nordic standpoint. His word is a lot better than his bond. If he enters into an oral compact he considers his honor at stake and is somewhat more scrupulous than we are at sticking to the spirit as well as the actual language of the deed. If the proposition is put in writing, however, he feels that he isn't fully trusted; if he can outmaneuver the other party on technicalities he'll do it.

Latin American governments are just like Latin American individuals.

We're Friendly Anyway
Of course, this Yankee-Brazilian understanding is typewritten and signed as a matter of international form, but underlying it is a genuine sentiment of mutual good-will.

Just why the Brazilians, traditionally, always have liked us isn't particularly clear, but it's a fact that they have. Possibly, it's because we never have landed marines on their soil, as we have in various other parts of Latin America. An additional count is that the rest of Latin America is predominantly Spanish, and our war with Spain is remembered against us. But Brazil isn't Spanish; it's Portuguese. The Spanish and Portuguese aren't altogether brotherly.

And Brazil is a corking goodly lot for us to have on the southern new world continent. In square miles it's bigger than we are. In population it's a quarter of our size. In natural resources it's tremendous—and largely complementary to ours. In short, it's 50 per cent of Latin America—or more maybe. Add up the United States, Canada and Brazil—and who cares for the rest of us new worldlings?

International Monies
Now, to enter into a discussion of international economics would be unprofitable. I don't comprehend 'em anyway. But my personal experience is that, some years ago, I started northward from Buenos Aires, with a bunch of Argentine Uruguayan, Brazilian and West Indian currency in my pocket.

I had to pay differentials to money changers at Montevideo, Santos, Rio, Para, Port of Spain and elsewhere. Starting off with $100, you'd have about 90 cents upon disembarkation—not spent at visiting points, but consumed in exchange charges.

Anybody can see how this must dislocate business.

Can this situation be corrected? Certainly it can't be done if local fixers are left in charge; they'll gobble all the gravy.

But—Brazil is willing to have North American experts take charge of Brazilian economics. That's all that he Japanese ever asked in China—a Japanese advisership (meaning a Chinese boss-ship, by the Japanese, of China).

As to Brazil, Germany and Italy screech—naturally.

It suits us, though. I hope we get away with it.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

The Six Secretaries Idea

WASHINGTON, March 16.

The appointment by the President of his handsome military aide, Colonel Watson, to be the principal Presidential secretary has revived interest in the whole question of the White House secretariat. It has, for example, again brought to the front the matter of the six secretaries for whom Mr. Roosevelt asked in the original reorganization bill and so, it was suggested by the sponsor of that controversial measure, should be endowed with a passion for anonymity.

IT will be recalled that originally the reorganization bill was introduced in 1937 and was a companion piece to the Supreme Court packing bill. At the time there were so many other objectionable things in the President's reorganization plans that the proposal for six new secretaries at $10,000 salary each seemed very minor, indeed. They were so relatively unimportant that those who were in opposition passed them by without serious protest.

SOME fun was poked at the "Selfless Six" and there were some rather art remarks in committee on the general subject of their duties. However, the disposition among his opponents was in favor of giving the President whatever additional help he claimed he needed to run his office, and the provision for the six secretaries remained in the bill until, in much emasculated form, it was finally beaten. In the new reorganization bill now on its way through the House, again the six $10,000 secretaries appear, but there is—at least on the Senate side—a very different feeling about them.

NOR has it escaped attention that, while in many respects the bill which Senator Byrd, the real pioneer in the reorganization movement, has introduced, is similar to the House bill, there is in it no reference to the six secretaries. In other words, it is quite clear that this time there will be no general acceptance of the six. The former Senatorial attitude of "Oh, well, if he says he needs six more secretaries let him have 'em" has changed. Instead there is reason to believe that unless a personal fight is made by the President, they will not be provided, and no surety at all that they will be provided if he does. The reasons are clear.

IN the first place, it is pointed out, in the new Senate bill one of the real aims is proclaimed as economy, whereas economy was specifically not one of the aims of the President's 1937 proposals. In any reorganization seeking economy it is obviously inconsistent to create six new Presidential secretaries, each of whom inevitably would require personal secretaries, clerks, stenographers and offices, thus running expenses far above the mere $60,000 for their salaries. Practically, it would amount to establishing a new department—or, at least, a new bureau. The whole purpose of reorganization is to simplify, reduce and retrain. The six-secretaries proposal goes in the exact opposite direction and there is no possible excuse for acquiescing unless the need is clear and their duties specified.

NEITHER one of these things has been done. On the contrary, it is difficult for anyone to see how these Six Selfless Secretaries would operate without interfering with Cabinet and department heads and themselves. Possibly they might be used for keeping on the payroll the Messrs. Connerly, Cohen and others of the so-called "inner circle" who function as Presidential advisers and are now paid by the RFC, the AAA, the PWA and other agencies where they serve more or less irregularly and irrelevantly. Otherwise it is not easy to think who would fill these places and what they would do.

FOR another thing, it is pointed out that no issue of being grudging or miserly toward the President can now be raised because even if the six secretaries were provided they would be of little use to Mr. Roosevelt. By the time they could have gotten into operation, he would be so close to the end of his second term that they would have no real value. He wouldn't have time to think up things for them to do. Certainly, his successor in the White House ought to be allowed to say whether or not he wanted six secretaries in addition to the four already provided. He very easily might not want them at all. The next President may have wholly different ideas about these things. He may not even have an "inner circle" or a Brain Trust. At any rate it seems fairly sure that a strong effort will be made in the Senate this time to eliminate the six-secretaries idea on the ground the need is doubtful and the idea inconsistent with the primary purpose of the bill.

Safety-first note: Adults demanding cars with unbreakable glass; school kids crowded into home-made buses with sides of ordinary window glass.

After long experience in the world, I affirm, before God, that I never knew a rogue who was not unhappy—Junius.

Shift In High Navy Commands Is Scheduled

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 16.—A sweeping shift in the high command of the navy—with the accent on youth—today was scheduled for early summer.

Orders issued at midnight by secretary of the navy Sponson named Rear-Admiral Harold R. Stark 58, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., promoted to flag rank only two years ago, to succeed Admiral William D. Leahy, as chief of naval operations. Leahy will retire after adjournment of congress, and it was believed that effectiveness of all the shifts ordered will be delayed until that time.

Two key posts at the navy department were filled by "youngsters." Capt. John T. Towers, pioneer in naval aviation, was appointed chief of the bureau of aeronautics, with rank of rear-admiral, and rear-admiral Chester W. Nimitz was named chief of the bureau of navigation. Both are 54.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

California has entered upon its second session. There are probably more "crack pots" in that legislature than in any legislature heretofore serving the State of California. California is famous for its "crack pot" legislators. This time legislators aren't knee-deep in measures and issues. They're up to the collar!

Never in the State's history has there been such an outpouring of proposed laws. Confronting the representatives in Sacramento this month are 11,136 pages of bills that streamed into the hoppers during the first part of the 1939 session, nearly four thousand more pages than two years ago.

To the statistically-minded that means forty tons of type metal went into the printing of this session's batch of measures. To the economy-minded it means an outlay of $50,000 a week, twice the normal weekly payroll required for the composing, printing and press work. And to all intelligent citizens, it means legislators will have to exercise greater caution than ever before to keep the public from being engulfed in a flood-tide of legislation that, at best, may be needless and, at worst, actually harmful.

Amid some of the new and significant proposals of merit, legislators are finding several of the old standbys, unworkable as ever but making up in longevity what they lack in horse-sense. All dressed up, ready to go places, are measures to protect the small borrower—but actually empowering loan sharks to charge him fifty-five to one hundred per cent interest! Tugged up in new clothes as Senate Bill eleven-fifteen is the old dog-eat-dog economic theory professing to "aid" transportation—but putting California on record before the nation as favoring cut-throat price wars among agencies of transportation! The dog-eat-dog theory may benefit a few people, but not the public. Wherever the victor has destroyed his competitors, the field is his to exact of the public any price he chooses.

CORNELL SEEKS SIX MILLION FUND

(International News Service)
ITHACA.—A committee of trustees of Cornell university will meet soon to appoint a man to take charge of a six-million-dollar fund-raising campaign. Two new engineering buildings would be erected as soon as possible to house the chemical engineering laboratories, and another would provide a modern materials and metallurgy laboratory.

SAYS LAUGHTER KEEPS ONE SLIM

(International News Service)

CHICAGO.—Is your waistline bulging? Then Dr. Arthur J. Todd of Northwestern University advises plenty of rough-house comedy to get back into the streamline division.

Dr. Todd scoffs at the idea of "laugh and grow fat." He said that laughter meant play and that play, especially the kind that's not self-conscious, is the most effective way of checking the waistline.

Dr. Todd declared that increased leisure and other developments in modern life have made it necessary for the individual to watch his weight, but he came out against such correctives as dragging exercises, faddish diets and "quack formulas. He added:

"Exercise is medicine. The world is sterile. But play is different. Play as play illuminates all life. It should invest our work, making it a joy instead of a dreadful necessity. I strongly recommend more of the play spirit in our jobs."

NEW YORK.—A new robot vending machine will come into use this month, reports its inventor, C. W. Nixon.

The machine, according to Nixon, will make change up to a half dollar; deliver the merchandise and change; detect and reject all counterfeit coins, silver, nickel or copper.

"And," he added, "it is bound to increase from 14 per cent to 84 per cent the number of people who buy goods from vending machines by its ability to make change for the customer without error."

Blames Suicides On Hurt Vanity

Doctor Places Blame For Deaths Except Those Of Insane People

ST. LOUIS.—All suicides, except those of really insane persons, result from injured vanity, Dr. Lee D. Cady, former president of the St. Louis Medical Society, declared in a recent talk before the society.

"At first glance," he said, "the injured vanity motive may not seem operative in the case of the person with a hopeless and painful disease. That person knows society, law and religion do not encourage or approve suicide. He also knows he would be held blameless if he allowed nature and time to take their course. He is faced with the prospect of additional suffering that way."

"Some way of ending his miseries may appeal to him as practical for all concerned. 'What's the use?' he reasons. 'Everyone will sigh and say I did the right thing.'"

"Self-pity is another way to describe this state of mind, no matter how justifiable this pity is. Self-pity is practically indistinguishable from injured vanity, and one partakes of the other."

Unrequited Love A Cause

"It is much easier to discern the injured vanity motive in the cases of the unrequited lover, the erstwhile millionaire who is afraid to face the world with only a hundred thousand dollars, the introverted college student who has flunked, or the deserted wife with only six hungry children to rear. As human understanding and sympathy go, these are not problems to be faced with levity, but neither should they be regarded with paralyzing seriousness."

Bureau of Census reports since

1900, Dr. Cady declared, show that social crisis, like depressions, wars and revolutions, have a very definite effect on the suicide rate.

While suicides increase during depressions, wars may actually prevent thousands "from stepping off the short end," Dr. Cady continued.

During the World War, the German and English suicide rate fell off 24 to 26 per cent, respectively. In 1937, the Japanese suicide rate fell 14 per cent, which was not quite enough to indicate patriotic fervor as regards to the war in China.

Suicide Rate Fluctuations

In 1900, the suicide rate in the United States was 11.5 per 100,000 population. The increasing tempo of life jumped the rate to 16 in 1905. Dr. Cady said, but in 1906 it dropped to 13.9 because the San Francisco earthquake made the would-be suicide feel "that he really was better off than many other people." By 1908 panics and depression had raised the rate to a new high of 17.8.

With the United States' involvement in the World War, the suicide rate slipped from 13.4 in 1917 to a low of 10.2 in 1920. War arguments, misguided patriotism and social maladjustments started homicides up in 1917, when the rate was 7.7 but potential killers also had their distractions, and by 1920 the homicide rate was down to 7.1.

"Say what you will," Dr. Cady asserted, "the mass emotional forces of war saved some thousands of persons from suicide and civil homicide. People were still primitive enough to enjoy war and shedding the other man's blood."

Suicide Rate Increased

The suicide rate gradually increased from 1924 until it had reached 17.4 in 1932 at the height of the depression.

"In 1933," Dr. Cady said, "President Roosevelt put us all into the same boat with a bank holiday, and people quit being irritated by the failure of banks. The suicide rate eased off to 15.9."

"After that, potential suicides put their ideas less into practice each year until the rate was 14.2 in 1936, yet for 1937, but apparent rates indicate a sharp increase to 15.9. This is sinister."

Distillers May Use New Orleans Iris For Cordials

(International News Service)
NEW ORLEANS—Will the Iris of Louisiana's mystic swamps lend fragrance to cordials drunk by fastidious drinkers?

This question is now before the association of commerce at New Orleans, which is trying to learn whether the Louisiana Iris could supplant that of Italy in serving as the base of orisroot.

Orisroot is a substance used by many cordial drinkers to add that certain something to their distillations which causes the elegant to lick their chops and the straight whiskey drinkers to snort.

A war might cut off the Italian supply; hence distillers are reported ready to look into the possibility that Louisiana Iris could replace the Italian sister.

SURVEYOR GETS LIFETIME POST

SACRAMENTO—A job expected to last his life time was assigned seven years ago to Alfred Jones, Los Angeles County surveyor.

The unending task consists of re-numbering residences in unincorporated county areas.

Although the assignment is now considered more than half completed, necessity of going over past work indicates the job will never be entirely completed, Jones declares.

Confusion resulting from assignment of house numbers by utility concerns, on installation of service several years ago caused the board of supervisors to order the county surveyor's office to undertake the task.

'Old Folks Day' Next Sunday In Sabbath Schools

Increase Campaign Is Now At Half-way Mark; Four Sundays Remain

"Old Folks Day" is the official designation for next Sunday, March 19, in the "Four Star" increase campaign being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, and if the weather is good quite a number of the older people who have not been able to attend Sunday school regularly will make an effort to be present.

There are four Sundays remaining until Easter and the campaign is at the halfway mark there having been four Sundays since the start, February 19. Notwithstanding the fact that the weather has been generally unfavorable for these first four Sundays, good progress has been made. The best Sunday attendance of the campaign to date was Sunday, March 5, when the attendance was well over the average of the last calendar year.

The evangelistic phase of the campaign will be particularly stressed during the next four Sundays, and the Bible study goal is also being advanced in a number of participating Sunday schools. The Sunday school attendance and church attendance will continue to show good results and Easter should be an outstanding day in every respect.

Dentists Ask That School Dentist Be Employed In City

Dental Society Asks That Provisions Be Included In Next Year's Budget

After hearing an appeal from a group of local dentists representing the Lawrence County Dental Society, that a school dentist be re-employed by the school district, the New Castle school board, at its meeting Wednesday evening announced that the sum of $1,800 would be included in next year's budget to take care of the matter, and the society promised to furnish the board with a list of acceptable applicants. Under the plan a full-time dentist would be employed.

Dr. Ralph A. Hamilton was spokesman for the group, which included Drs. L. W. Hamilton, W. W. Horner, A. G. Reynolds and R. C. Gilmore.

It was stated that the experience of the dentists has shown that no provision is made for this service by the state relief board, and that dental work is being neglected among the school children, resulting in serious harm to the children which could be prevented by the work which would be done by a school dentist.

"Y" CAPTAINS TO DINE

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

In his charming introduction of Vilhjalmur Stefansson's new book, "Unsolved Mysteries of the Arctic," Stephen Leacock identifies himself as an armchair explorer. "With the help, perhaps of an odd glass of hot toddy kept warm on the hearth," says Mr. Leacock, "I can face any Arctic winter that ever was. No ice was ever snuggler than my study-library on the Cote des Neiges road, with a volume of Arctic adventure to center its warmth and comfort."

A steam-heat appraisal of Mr. Stefansson's book will similarly free any town-bound, job-bound citizen for vicarious wilderness. Not that the gleaming white wilderness. Not that the writer stresses the melodrama of Arctic exploring. Quite the contrary, Mr. Stefansson turns in a studious, factual, documented inquiry into historic secrets of the great silent waste.

In this tale, drama is neither pressed nor emphasized, but is somehow cumulative and, in the end, more enthralling, through the objectiveness and integrity of Mr. Stefansson's narrative. Its lack of guile and its scientific detachment, without any contrived or premeditated dramatic build-up gave to this reader a sense of glimpsing for himself, not through the eyes of another, man's unending, high-hearted combat with a cruel and grim wilderness. But don't repair to Mr. Stefansson to touch off any fire—the truth-seeker rather than the showman or the mere teller of tales.

He tells of "the disappearance of the Greenland Colony," possibly 9,000 persons just fading off into the mists with scientists for hundreds of years trying to explain their fate. Many have thought that they were overwhelmed by the Eskimos, but this Stefansson thinks that they were absorbed in a long intermingling with the natives.

There is a long and searching study of the lost Franklin expedition, which has baffled explorers and students of the Arctic for nearly 100 years. The author holds that the men were gradually scattered and destroyed, pushing down toward the Canadian trading posts, and that "the last man died in the winter 1848-49."

Andree of the balloon expedition of 1897, Mr. Stefansson believes, was suffocated by monoxide gas from his stove, due to lack of insufficient ventilation in his tent. Of the missing Soviet fliers, he writes: "The chances are at least ten to one that the Soviet judgment is right: that Levanovsky's party, dead or alive, drifted with the ice in the same direction as Papanin—toward the Gulf Stream warmth, and sank to the Atlantic's bottom when the snow melted."

Running through Mr. Stefansson's book is his insistence that the sensible Arctic explorer will go native. It is, he asserts, the only sensible course. Explorers who live like the Eskimos, get plenty of fresh meat and fish, never salt anything down, learn native devices of dress and shelter, instead of relying on gear and food contrived by swivel-chair explorers, and keep in excellent health and well-being.

It is a grand book for browsing, full of casually observed but surprising detail. For example, here's some guidance if you are spotting up an igloo, as a retreat from the less elemental but pressing hazards of our civilization:

"Late that evening, we came to a commodious and clean-looking snow house which had evidently been abandoned by the party we were following not more than two days before. To save ourselves the trouble of building, we camped in this house. A new camp is warmer than an old camp, for a new house is a snow house, but an old one is partly an ice house." We're saluting that down for the future.

But there is one mystery of the Arctic which I wish Mr. Stefansson had explained. That is the finding of tropical fossils of flora and fauna up near the pole, and Arctic fossils near the equator. The only explanation I ever heard was supposed to have been given by an Old Negro oiler on a tanker, pulling through the canal. The crew had been discussing the possibility of a shift of the pole as an explanation of the old black man put in his ear. "We all suckin' all dis oil out of de erf and de old axle got no oil and gits rusty and gits wabbles around."

Brownie Scouting Inaugurated Here

Girl Scout Brownie Pack Invested Tuesday At First U. P. Church

Brownie Scouting is now launched in New Castle as the newest phase of Girl Scout work in the community.

The first pack, meeting under the leadership of Mrs. J. B. Hurst, the past several weeks, have completed their requirements and on Tuesday, March 14, were invested with Brownie pins.

The meeting held after school in the First U. P. church on Glenore boulevard was attended by mothers and other guests numbering around thirty-five.

Special Brownie songs and the recitation of their promise comprised part of the ceremonies. The Brownie pledge: "I promise to do my best to love God and my country. And to help other people every day, especially those at home"—was solemnly given by the young people of 7 to 10 age, as well as their motto, "Lend a Hand."

Miss Helen MacLean, local director, invested Mrs. Hurst who in turn placed Brownie pins on the children.

After a game of two, the Brownies marched to a refreshment table from which they served delicacies to the assemblage.

Special guests, in addition to the mothers and Miss MacLean were members of the troop committee formed for Pack 1. This group includes Mrs. Ralph Cooper, Mrs. L. B. Calvin, Mrs. U. A. Leivo, Mrs. Joseph Rocks and Mrs. Allen Booth. Mrs. J. W. Spencer (Martha Clark), leader of a second pack to be invested soon, was another guest, and Mrs. John A. Edgar represented Council.

The new Brownies will hold weekly meetings on Tuesdays after school, the next being scheduled for March 21.

Final Evidence Is Being Presented During Afternoon

examination that she did not expect any trouble with Mike when she went into the room with the pillow and gun.

Character Witnesses

Character witnesses were called for Angeline today. They included Mary Yargo, Jennie Kolka, Carrie Luciano, Mary Greig, Florence Kennedy, Rose Geneva, Mary Capuzzi and C. N. Shingledecker. All testified that her reputation in Hillsville for "peace and good order" was good.

Michael Maravola, father of the girl and her brother Andrew testified. The father said he would not let his daughter go out with young Rich until he knew his intentions were to marry her.

Asked if he had ever taken the matter up with Michael A. Rich, Sr., in compliance with a custom among Italian people he said he had not, and that he knew nothing of such a custom.

Other Witnesses

Arthur B. Griffin, manager of the Italy store in Bessemer, was called and testified that Michael A. Rich and Angeline Maravola had often come to his store for ice cream. Percy J. Rowland of the Bailey Auto Supply store testified to Joseph Rich being at the telephone on the morning of February 3.

Mrs. M. M. Ingham, wife of the sheriff, was called for the defense and said that on February 3 when Angeline Maravola was brought into the jail that she was nervous and hysterical.

Squire James H. Eakin of Hillsville testified that Michael A. Rich, Jr., had come to him sometime last summer and asked if he would marry him. The squire said Rich did not mention the name of the girl and that he did not return after he was told he must have a license.

Charles B. Randall, a free lance photographer, testified to taking pictures of the room in which the shooting took place and identified the pictures.

Rebuttal Testimony

Called as rebuttal witness, Mrs. Mary Gasperoni, sister of the deceased man, said that she and her mother and Angeline had talked together one day last spring and that Mrs. Rich had asked Angeline if she had a boy friend.

Mrs. Gasperoni testified that Angeline had said "yes, I love Lawrence Gemini and I wouldn't trade him for anybody else. If I ever married anybody else it would be because the man had money."

The attorneys for Angeline, Edwin K. Logan and Samuel L. Clark, submitted their exhibits as evidence before closing their case.

District Attorney John G. Lamoree and Judge Chambers then opened their rebuttal. Whether or not the defense will have any rebuttal testimony is not known. If they do not the arguments should start this afternoon.

Several additional state motor policemen were called in today to handle the crowd. At 4 o'clock this morning the first spectators arrived at the court house and by 6 there was a crowd. The court room was filled and the crowd outside told to disperse.

Defendant Testifies

Her body wracked with sobs as she bared the events of the past six months of her life, Angeline Maravola told the jury the story of her shooting of Michael A. Rich, Jr., Wednesday afternoon. It was a story of drugery and romance, of tenderness and tempest, of violence and sudden death with the man she loved stretched out before her, four bullets in his body.

As she related the story Angeline broke down eight or nine times, and for a time it appeared doubtful that she could continue. She continued and finally finished her story upon examination in chief. Upon cross examination she ceased sobbing and answered the questions put to her without any show of undue emotion.

Life Story

She told the jury she was born in Hillsville May 17, 1916, and had lived there ever since. She attended the grade schools of Hillsville until she finished the eighth grade, when because of the sickness of her mother she left school to work at home. About three years ago she started to work by the day and among the people she served was Mrs. Sam Gasperoni, a sister of Michael Rich's. Through her she got to know Mrs. Michael A. Rich, Sr., and started to work for her.

She had known Michael A. Rich, Jr., as a school boy but had never associated much with him until she went to work in his father's home. "Sometime after I started to work in the home, Mike asked me if he could take me out," said Angeline. "I told him he would have to see my father about it. He didn't want to do that but finally did and we went together."

"Mrs. Rich, Sr., was sick and had to be taken to the hospital early in June and Mike and I didn't fill one date because of that. On the following Sunday I went to a ball game with a friend of mine in Youngstown and on Monday Mike asked me who he was.

"I told him and he said he wanted to go steady with me. I said, Mike do you know what you are saying? Do you want to go with me for a week or two and then quit? He said he wanted to go steady with me and I agreed to it. He kissed me and said there would be no more boy friends for me or girl friends for him."

Claims Betrayal

Shortly after that Angeline claimed that Mike betrayed her under the promise of marriage. "He said he would fix it up with Squire James H. Eakin but when I asked him if he had seen Squire Eakin he had several stories. One was that Eakin was not in, another was that Eakin could not do it without our getting a regular license, and finally Mike said we would go to Mercer, or to Cumberland."

"Mike's mother died and one night I stayed in the house all night with his sister. The next morning Mike saw me and we talked about our marriage and discussed the placing of furniture in the home. But he kept putting off our marriage and insisting that I give myself to him time and again."

"He took me out often and we sometimes went to Youngstown. One night as we sat in Italy's he wrote in my autograph book, I Shall Always Love You Sweetheart, using each letter for a word. The autograph was produced."

Told His Father

"Finally I told his father of what had happened between us, and Mr. Rich said Mike had done wrong and that he (the father) would see that Mike did the right thing."

Angeline went into some detail concerning various happenings about this time of the courtship. She told how Mike grew colder towards her, how he spurned her at various times and the efforts she made to get him back.

At Christmas time she bought Mike a pen and pencil set which he did not seem to appreciate, she said. On the morning of February 3 Angeline was in the home of Mike's sister and said that the sister told her that a brother had said Mike had another girl he was going to marry.

"I went over to the Rich home and as I got there I saw Mike coming out the door. I asked him if it was true but he pushed me aside and went on to the garage. I was desperate. I went upstairs and got a gun which was in a drawer and came back down stairs. I put the gun in another room."

Claims Attack

"When Mike came back into the room I pleaded with him. Don't you understand what you have done to me, I asked him, but all he did was to grab me and tear the buttons off of my dress."

"He went over to the telephone and called his brother and I said, Mike if you don't marry me I will tell my father and brothers and you know what they will do."

"As I said this Mike slammed the receiver up and said, I'll take care of you right now."

"He came towards me and I tried to get away. I tried to run upstairs but he came at me, choking me, beating me and I thought he intended to kill me. I screamed 'Mike, let me go or I'll kill you.' He did not let me go and I fired. I don't know where I hit him or how many times I shot."

She was examined by Attorney Samuel L. Clark and cross examined by former Judge James A. Chambers.

Upon cross examination Judge Chambers asked if it wasn't true that she had had dates with a number of young men who were named. Among the names mentioned were Joe Medina, two of the Creator boys and an Anthony Biondi in New Jersey. She denied dating them.

At adjournment time her cross examination was not completed and was scheduled to continue today. The commonwealth closed its case Wednesday afternoon after recalling several witnesses for minor details of testimony.

SLOVAKIA JOINS PROTECTORATE OF GREATER REICH

was Czechoslovakia as it is of Germany, Austria and the Sudetenland.

All Jewish members of the Czech Association of Lawyers and Solicitors were ordered to cease active practice forthwith. They were given but 24 hours in which to hand their businesses over lock, stock and barrel to "Aryan trustees."

Von Ribbentrop Spokesman

Hitler had been scheduled to reveal his future plans with regard to Bohemia and Moravia in an address before students of the German university of Prague. But he left the task of informing all of Germany and the world how completely he had taken over the finances, foreign policies, natural resources and population of the former Czech republic to von Ribbentrop.

He contended himself with a brief appearance on the balcony of the Hradshin palace, the ancient citadel handed down by the kings of Bohemia to the founders of the now vanished Czechoslovakian republic, who ruled for 20 years before the irresistible Nazi machine mowed down the last real bulwark to Hitler's "drang nach Osten" (drive to the east).

Thousands of Germans massed in the huge square below shouted and cheered as the Fuehrer appeared and stood silent for a few moments over the sprawling city of his latest conquest and out over the clear water of the rushing Moldava river.

"We greet you, Fuehrer. We thank you!" they shouted, and time and again the famous cry "Sieg Heil" broke from countless throats.

Occupation Completed

At noon, the Fuehrer received Walther von Brauchitsch, chief of staff under Hitler himself of the German army, who ceremoniously informed him that military occupation of Bohemia and Moravia had been completed.

Official German circles asserted that everything was quiet throughout the occupied areas although the situation in Ruthenia (Carpatho-Ukraine) was still confused. Prior to Dr. Tiso's voluntary inclusion of his two-day-old republic in the Nazi orbit, it had been anticipated that his nation would be permitted to retain a semblance of independence with a puppet government operating under Nazi domination.

Also may yet be allowed to remain, but it was apparent that to all intents and purposes his country would be just as much a part of German as Bohemia and Moravia.

To Return To Berlin

Hitler is expected to return to Berlin shortly and receive a tumultuous ovation from his citizens who have yet to realize the immensity of the Fuehrer's latest victory in his third "war without a shot." The Fuehrer slept well and soundly last night, his officials said, after retiring at a late hour. He spent the morning drafting a number of legal documents and the von Ribbentrop broadcast.

Soon after his balcony appearance the Fuehrer received representatives of the Prague municipal administration and spokesmen for the German minority. He assured his guests of a long period of "peace and cultural development" in Bohemia, Moravia and Slovakia.

Shortly afterward, Hitler received Dr. Emil Hacha, who still remains as president of Czechoslovakia. He was greeted with full military honors on his arrival at the castle.

Previously, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop had called on Hacha and handed him a copy of the proclamation broadcast thru-out Germany announcing Hitler's "protectorate" over Bohemia and Moravia.

Greatest German Empire

Berlin, March 16.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler today proclaimed his mastery over the greatest German empire in the history of modern Europe.

In a 13-point decree, prepared by the Fuehrer at Prague and broadcast over all radio stations in the expanded greater Germany by Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, the Fuehrer formally sounded the death of the nation that once was Czechoslovakia.

The proclamation based the Reich's claim to Bohemia and Moravia on one thousand years of history and upon the contention that the leaders of the Czechoslovakian nation had proved incapable of governing that state's mixed population of varying nationals under a single flag.

Suspected Killers Paid Widow Visit, Beaver Court Hears

(International News Service)
BEAVER, Pa., March 16.—The story of how two suspects in the killing of Tony Spitalo, Monaca beer salesman, came to the widow's home to look at the victim two days after the fatal shooting was written into the records here today.

Louis Tolento, 40, of Rochester, alleged "trigger man" in the Beaver Valley beer war, and Tony Massaro, 32, of Monaca, whom police claim paid Tolento in excess of $500 to "do the job," went to Mrs. Spitalo's home "to offer condolences," she testified in court yesterday.

"Tony was in his coffin and flowers were all around when Tolento and Massaro came into my house," the widow testified.

Tony Ezzo, former beer distributor for whom Spitalo worked for some time, said he could offer no explanation to the shooting.

Bull Pup Teaches Class In College Psychology

By Central Press
NEW WINDSOR, MD.—Bosco, a year-old American Bull pup, teaches students in psychology at Blue Ridge College how the principle of association of ideas works, by performing a series of six operations on a puzzle box.
In order to get into the box, Bosco has to push a lever to the right, pull a second lever down, swing a third lever to the right, drop a fourth lever, lift the box cover, and jump in.
Taught the complicated routine by Prof. H. G. Westerhof, head of the college psychology department, the pup has become a regular classroom performer and demonstrates, according to Prof. Westerhof, that dogs can think.
It is an established scientific fact, the doctor says, that dogs can learn only through association of ideas, and the principle of association of ideas is a primary thought process. The same process is used by babies when they first begin to think, the psychologist points out.

Brest's Action May Start Flood Of Prison Pleas

Three More Writs Of Habeas
Corpus Filed By Convicts
At Alcatraz

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—We expected it," said federal authorities today as they greeted the first three of what may be a flood of pleas for writs of habeas corpus by convicts at Alcatraz federal prison.

The surprise victory scored by Harold M. Brest, Pennsylvania kidnaper, in procuring such a writ on his contention he was not advised of his legal rights at his trial resulted in filing of three almost identical applications.

Seeking freedom on claims that their legal rights were infringed upon were Seville Welles, serving 30 years for a Texas bank robbery; Ernest Verbiel, serving 25 years for a South Dakota bank robbery; and Clint Smith, serving nine years for dealing cigarettes from a freight car in Oklahoma.

Federal Judge A. F. St. Sure issued an order for Alcatraz warden James A. Johnston to appear in court April 10 to show cause why Welles' plea should not be granted. Brest, although technically victorious, is still in prison awaiting trial on a variety of serious charges. Word was received that a bench warrant is enroute from Pittsburgh for his re-arrest on the kidnapping charge.

Seminary Senior New Bethel Pastor

C. Bradley Watkins, of East Liberty, Pittsburgh, who will be graduated this May from Pittsburgh-Kenia Theological Seminary, has accepted a call extended unanimously by the Bethel United Presbyterian congregation of Lawrence county, and will be installed by Beaver Valley Presbytery this spring.

Meanwhile he is preaching each Sunday at Bethel, which has been without a pastor since the resignation of Rev. George Neill.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or painful passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. (Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Although few New Castle residents know it, John V. Bowser, former local young man not far past the 30 mark, is now controller of the Westinghouse Air Brake company at Pittsburgh.

Bowser for six years served the Pittsburgh branch of Haskins & Sells, certified public accountants. One day an assignment took him to the Westinghouse office, where, after a number of annual visits, his ability and warm personality impressed Westinghouse officers and staff men. ## Fraternity Men's Averages Better

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, March 16.—Westminster college's, fraternity men's averages have improved greatly, and are now higher than the all-men's average, according to a statement issued by the National Inter-fraternity council. Sigma Phi Epsilon, national social fraternity, with an average of 1.637 leads the fraternities over the all men's average. Next comes Kappa Phi Lambda, local social fraternity, with 1.624 and Phi Pi Phi, national social fraternity, with 1.605. Regardless, Westminster's non-fraternity men still lead with 1.75, as in former years.

A 60 per cent national increase in the margin by which fraternity groups have excelled non-fraternity men in averages has discounted the myth of poor scholarship in a purely social group.

On The Quintuplets
And The Care
Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DEFORMED CHILD MUST NOT BE SPOILED

We have advised parents of children born with deformities to have them corrected before the child grows old enough to feel that he is "different" from his playmates. If you do this, then you have probably done a great deal to keep him from developing an inferiority complex.

But sometimes a child may have a deformity of a kind which cannot be corrected until later in life; perhaps it is a deformity which can never be more than partially corrected. When this situation arises, the parents are wise if they begin early to give this child a special training.

First, you must not spoil him. This is important because so often a mother or a father feel so sorry for a deformed child that they will do everything for him. This is wrong, for it is only making his position more difficult when he goes out into the world. In his home, he was able to turn his shortcomings into an advantage; out in the world, it is a handicap to him. Perhaps the most important thing is to teach him to be self-reliant and to face difficulties squarely.

Since a child in this category is usually destined for one or more operations, he should be prepared for these by being told all about them. Whatever you do, don't coax him into the doctor's office on pretexts.

Such a child must also be taught to readjust his sense of values, so that he won't mourn the loss of money, friends, beauty, romance or any of the things that his deformity may deprive him of. If he learns early that true friendship exists only in those who like him for himself, whatever his deformity, he will have gone a long way towards solving his problem.

Loveable characteristics in a child or adult will go a long way toward overcoming the handicaps any physical abnormality may impose. Certainly a deformed child should not be a spoiled child; too often he is the one child in the family who is spoiled.

Speech training in a child with a cleft palate is almost as important as the surgical repair itself. Parents must be prepared to spend a great deal of time in this training after the operation has been performed. Children who are the victims of orthopedic deformities need corrective gymnastics and physical therapy to help correct their abnormalities. Massages and special exercises, both active and passive, can do wonders in correcting deficiencies. Even crossed eyes are greatly improved by exercise and, in fact, often makes an operation unnecessary.

Marie was an example of this. When she was born she had a tendency toward crossed eyes. Her trouble was due to muscular imbalance—one muscle pulling one way was too strong for another set of muscles and pulled the eye out of line. We were able, by exercises, to strengthen the weaker muscles until Marie's eyes today are as straight as anybody's.

Sometimes one eye will be what we term "lazy". It isn't weak, but it leaves the heavy work for the other eye to do. This is corrected in children by covering the active eye over and making the lazy one do some work. I had that trouble as a child but in those days they didn't know how to correct it. If they had, I mightn't have needed glasses today. Certainly it would have put off their need for a long time anyway.

Will Landscape
School Grounds At George Washington

Plans Presented By Principal B. K. Thacker Is Approved By School Board

Plans for landscaping the spacious grounds surrounding the George Washington Junior high school were given approval by the school board at its meeting last evening.

There will be no cost to the school district for this work. Mr. Thacker stated, and it will be carried forward with funds raised in various ways.

The plan calls for planting of various shrubs and trees, with hedges along the walks, and will be carried forward over a period of years until completed.

Mr. Thacker presented a plan which had been drawn by some of the students at the George Washington building, showing just what is intended to be done. The actual planting work will be done by the students, he explained, and in a few years the benefits will be visible.

Civic Club Holds
Meeting Wednesday

Advance Plans For Mass Meeting In Mahoning School On Friday Evening

For their regular meeting members of the Seventh Ward Civic club gathered in the store of James Herbold, Wednesday at noon, for a luncheon.

Jack Brettell, president, called upon members of the committee handling the house to house canvassing for the Greater New Castle Association, for a report.

Main discussion of the group centered about the proposed road project through the area, and about the mass meeting scheduled for Friday night.

This mass meeting has been called in connection with the road project and will be held in the Mahoning school auditorium at 8 o'clock. The meeting is open to the general public, according to Brettell. From a report from Ohio towns, it is expected that quite a large delegation will come to the ward for this meeting.

Gets Recognition
In Beauty Contest

In competition with beautiful girls from all over the United States, Miss Sophie Owoc of 1135 North Liberty street, asserted her claim to the title of the "Most Beautiful Polish Girl in the U. S." by finishing in the last ten to be eliminated.

The contest was sponsored by a Buffalo newspaper and the only requirements to enter was to submit a picture and be of Polish descent. Miss Owoc's picture was chosen as one of those to compete for the title and she was sent for having her expenses paid while staying in Buffalo for the duration of the contest, which lasted four days.

Of the three thousand who actually competed at Buffalo, Miss Owoc received the judges nod until it became a contest between she and nine others. The final decision did not include Miss Owoc and another girl walked off with the first prize, a free trip to Poland.

FLYING EAGLE PATROL
HAS OUTDOOR MEETING

Members of the Flying Eagle patrol of Boy Scout troop 4 held an outdoor meeting Tuesday evening. Francis Carlin, the patrol leader, was in charge of the session.

Following passed requirements in scout work. William Strohecker, safety, firebuilding, knife and hatchet; Robert Gilbert, firebuilding; John Pashka, firebuilding, knife and hatchet; Lee Wilkinson, firebuilding, knife and hatchet, and Paul Fisher, firebuilding, knife and hatchet.

Scribe, Paul Fisher.

TO PLAN PROGRAM

All persons in the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church who are vocally talented and wish to help with the special Easter music at the church, have been asked to meet in the church at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening for a practice session to arrange for the Easter program.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Since the stone gutters were built on Maple street in the ward, heavy rains no longer wash out this dirt street. Although we have been having rather bad weather, this is one street that is in good condition.

Skunk trouble on West Cherry street has reached its end. Tuesday afternoon a group of young men trapped two of the animals under a porch on this street. They finally forced them out and shot the little fellows.

It was noticed recently that there are quite a number of new shacks at the garden plots, near the city disposal plant, just outside the Seventh Ward. These little shacks are used by the gardeners in the summer when they are taking care of their crop.

Incidentally, it won't be long now before the acreage at the city disposal plant site will be allotted to various residents in the district. Some of the finest gardens in this section are developed at this site each year.

An old barn standing on Madison avenue, just to the rear of the Mahoning Methodist church, is in bad condition and it would be a good move to have it torn down. A portion of this structure was removed a short time ago.

BEAVER PATROL

Boy Scouts in the Beaver patrol had a meeting Tuesday evening and devotionals were in charge of William Weitz.

"Why I Joined the Boy Scouts" was given each boy with the instructions to write an essay on that topic. A scout law contest was held and was won by Bobby Castrucci.

William Weitz passed his compass examination during the meeting.

W. W. U. CLASS

Members of the W. W. U. class of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church will have a meeting tonight at the home of Mildred Broadbent, Fourth street.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Bert Meyers, Cedar street, is confined to his home by illness.

Arthur M. Brown, Newell avenue, is confined to his home by illness. Mrs. R. L. Drumheller, Newell avenue, is visiting relatives and friends in Roanoke, Va.

Mrs. W. C. Shanafelt, Madison avenue, is getting along nicely, although still confined to her home. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hyde, North Cedar street, have returned to their home following a visit in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. William Fischner of Millvale has returned home after a three weeks visit at the A. M. Hyde residence.

William Reed, carrier at the Mahoningtown post office, has returned to his duties following an absence due to illness.

Thomas Dickinson, Edenburg, has returned to his home following a visit at the H. E. Alexander home, West Cherry street.

Basketball Fans
Damage Building

Break Lockers And Doors At George Washington Building Is Report

It was reported to the school board last evening by Principal B. K. Thacker of the George Washington Junior high school that a great amount of damage had been done at the school building by fans and players during the present basketball elimination series which is being conducted by the Music Council.

Nineteen lockers were broken into, the handles being wrenched from the doors, one of the school doors was broken, purportedly to allow gate crashers to get into the games, and other damage was done. Steps to render proper police protection was made after the damage was done, but the board intends to see that such an occurrence does not happen in the future.

Articles were also stolen from the lockers and restitution will be asked of the Music Council, it was stated.

Teacher Tenure
Law May Change

Senator Edmunds Asks School District To Give Figures On Possible Savings

If proposed amendments to the Edmunds Teachers Tenure Act are carried out under provision of Senate Bill No. 45, now before the state legislature, the New Castle School district would save approximately $22,389, it was pointed out at the board meeting last evening. Senator Franklyn Edmunds requested the local school district for figures showing the savings which could have been effected in the 1938-39 school year by optional retirement of teachers at the age of 62 years, and dismissal of married teachers.

It was estimated that if the retirement of teachers at the age of 62 was carried out, the district would save $12,589 and if the married teachers were dismissed, an additional savings of $9,800 would be effected, making a total of $22,389.

U. S. Trade Treaty With Czecho-Slovakia Is Obliterated

Admit Trade Pact Is Dead

Probably $172,000,000 Debts Owed United States Will Never Be Paid

TRADE TREATY WAS SIGNED YEAR AGO

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 16.—America's important reciprocal trade treaty with Czecho-Slovakia vanished today in the obliteration of the tiny republic by Chancellor Hitler's war machine and with it probably $172,000,000 in debts owed the United States.

Officially, for the moment, the trade treaty stood intact, but privately officials admitted the pact became a dead letter the moment German troops entered Prague.

Delivered Coup De Grace
Largely emasculated by the Reich's absorption six months ago of the Sudetenland, where the greater part of Czecho-Slovakia's important industries were situated, the treaty was delivered the coup de grace yesterday.

Officials said the treaty could not remain in force, no matter what shape Germany's domination of Czecho-Slovakia assumed. The foundation of the American reciprocal trade program, they pointed out, is directly opposed to Germany's system of exchange control, barter trade and closed economy. Germany is the single nation of the world on the American trade "blacklist" because of these trade restrictions and discrimination against American trade.

The Czecho-Slovak treaty was signed only one year ago and represented the only point at which the United States has been able to penetrate central Europe with the reciprocal trade program.

Two Store Windows Decorated For Girl Scout Anniversary

Two store windows here have been attractively decorated to mark the 27th anniversary of the Girl Scout organization in this country. In the window of the New Castle Dry Goods Company, an attractive display of official Girl Scout equipment and literature has been arranged by Miss Richards.

At the Pennsylvania Power Company, a large and attractive birthday cake, topped with 27 candles, and placed before a background plaque of Girl Scout literature, makes up the display. This window was handled by Miss Rosea McGurk, of the Scout publicity committee.

CAMP RUN

MISSIONARY SOCIETY
Mrs. Oscar Barry entertained the ladies and friends of the Camp Run Missionary Society on Wednesday at an all day meeting. Quilting, making sun bonnets and aprons were the pastimes. A tasty repast was served at noon.

Election of officers resulted as follows: president, Mrs. Herbert Sturgeon; vice president, Mrs. Gabe Thompson; secretary, Mrs. Oscar Barry; treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Boots; flower fund, Mrs. William Robinson; reporter, Mrs. Mary Boyer.

CAMP RUN NOTES

"ACHES ALMOST DROVE ME WILD," SAYS PENNA. R. R. BRAKEMAN

Now joyfully states there is no sign of old agony in back, arms, or legs since Vendol relieved constipation.

MR. EWING SHIPLEY

Mr. Ewing Shipley, who lives at 389 Vermont Ave., Rochester, Pennsylvania, gives Vendol a strong recommendation, as follows:
"I'd been a victim of constipation for years and as time went on many other ailments resulted and combined to make my life really miserable. I was afraid to eat because of the suffering I knew would follow from indigestion, gas and heartburn; it seemed scarcely any use to go to bed, because my nerves were so frayed that restful sleep was just about impossible. And worst of all, my body seemed to be one solid ache, with particular misery in my back, arms, and legs. The aches in my back made it hard to bend over and almost a torture to straighten up again. You can imagine how hard it was to work while I felt like this.

"I was delighted with the way Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets helped, and seems like they were made exactly for me. I got relief from constipation after the first few doses, so continued to take this treatment about a month, till I'm feeling like a brand-new person.

"I now eat whatever I like without a sign of the old after-dinner's nerves are so quiet that I sleep like a log almost from the moment my head touches the pillow; but most wonderful of all my grand relief is, there's no longer any trace of the old agony in either my back, arms, legs or muscles. Vendol is due a lot of credit for all of this, so it gives me real pleasure to publicly recommend it to others. I keep it on hand at all times and wouldn't be without it."

You'll never know how much good this grand medicine made from nature's roots and herbs with alkalines added, can do for you till you give it a chance. It is highly recommended here by New Castle Drug Co., 35 E. Washington St. & 24 N. Mill St., Eckerd's Cut Rate and People's Drug Store, and by leading druggists everywhere.

Castle May Surprise
The Castle Five led by Duddy Perrett, the Pitzer brothers and Jap Covelli, along with Chiatullo and Fredericks, figure to give the mighty Falcons a thing or two to think about tonight in the opening game on the card. Coach Paul Eagan thinks that the Castle may "dump" the "Fals" right out of the tourney.

Keystones Vs. N. Y. A.
What will more than likely be the classic game of the tourney to date will be the Keystone-N. Y. A. battle in the second game on the card. The Keystones fresh from bumping the Madison A. C. and Bessemer out of the tourney, will be waiting tonight to add the N. Y. A. boys to the list of victims. Coach Andy Venditto will have his strongest possible lineup on the floor, with Paul Morrison, Nocera, Strausbaugh, Nickie Gennock and Sammy Bullano as the starting five, and with Cooper, Rags Gennock and Gallagher in reserve.

Officials Named
The N. Y. A. will have its customary team with the Deep brothers headlining, along with Eddie Ostrosky, Nickie Ross and Harry Toscano. The N. Y. A. supporters are willing to wager that the Keys will get a lesson in basketball tonight.

Ferrand Hopes To Gain Speed

Training Hard To Remove Surplus Weight For Bout With Morgan

FERRAND BEAT GAYNOR HERE

Vic Ferrand of Pittsburgh, who lost a decision to Benny Bartle last Monday night is reported training faithfully and he hopes to upset Steve Morgan when the middleweights clash here Monday night in a boxing show which will help the West Side Tigers buy new baseball uniforms.

Ferrand appeared "loggy" against Bartle and will take off four or five pounds to gain speed for his scrap with Morgan who is one of the most rugged fighters to have appeared here.

Morgan has won and lost and topped some of his victories with a knockout. Ferrand showed to advantage August 30 when he won over Joe Gaynor, Bethany college middleweight.

Both are sluggers and a good fight is in prospect, likewise when Frankie Karik of Youngstown battles Val Denigo of Pittsburgh at 160. Val is reputedly good. Karik has shown to advantage in past fights here.

Monday will mark the return of Frankie Moran to the ring following several weeks rest. He will take on Buzz Mooney, Sun-Tele boxing tourney runner-up at 126 pounds recently. This ought to be a spectacular scrap.

Johnny Wargo, ex-member of the Pitt boxing team will oppose Chuck Arnett. Arnett had best be in condition. Wargo has considerable experience and in this department will stand even with Arnett.

Joe Simms, the colored fighter from Youngstown, who has fought Oscar Wright and Nick Retardo asked to meet Frankie Genaro of Youngstown. Neither are very friendly and the question of who is the superior will be learned when they clash.

Mickie Walec, also a former member of the Pitt boxing team, will take on Ernie Pelai, a welterweight swinger from Beaver Valley. If the ex-collegian likes to stand toe to toe, Ernie will accommodate him.

The "V featherweights" Al Vancovich of Monaca and Joe Vutnick of Pittsburgh clash in another bout. Luke Blake of Pittsburgh, will make his debut here against Johnny Morinelli of Youngstown at 112.

Bobby Riggs, Frank Guernsey, Wayne Sabin and Ellwood Cook meet in Bermuda tennis semi-finals.

Three Brothers Have Helped West Pittsburg Win Many Ball Games

A lot of the success of the championship West Pittsburg baseball team can be laid at the door of the Marcantione home in the neighboring community, where the household supplies three brothers to the "Gas House" West Pittsburg ball club.

Perhaps if we call them the Markys—James, John and Mike—the fans will know them better. The three boys in question have played for many years with West Pittsburg and according to Manager Danny DeGenova are the "real sparkplugs" of the team.

All Three Good
James "Chas" Markey cavorts around the second base sack and is rated the best in the county, he is a consistent hitter and owns a fine fielding average. He had a tryout at Butler.

John Markey is the outfielder, and among the best garden patrollers in the city league. He covers a lot of ground and can sock the "old apple" with the best of them. He has been on the club for about six years, and has helped to win many games.

Mike Markey, the first baseman, will have another tryout at Beaver Falls this year, but will also be back at the initial sack for the "Gas House" and will again be a thorn in the side of the opposing teams. He is a fine fielder and a good stick.

West Pittsburg is sure to be back in the thick of the city league pennant race this summer and you can bet that the Markey brothers will be out there doing their level best for the success of the team.

Four Teams In Lawrence Loop

Proposed Tri-County Organization To Be Discussed Further

BUTCHELLI TO PILOT WAMPUM

Bessemer, South Hills, Wampum and Hillsville will compose the Lawrence county baseball league this season, according to plans adopted last night when officials of the loop and team managers met in the Sport Goods store. An election of officers will be held within the next several weeks and the opening date for play will be decided.

The Frisco Merchants, winner of the Beaver Valley Inter-City league last year, indicated they would like to be a member of the proposed tri-county loop of which the Lawrence circuit would be a part. It was also stated during the session that Ellport or Ellwood City may be represented.

Fever in Mercer is increasing to put a team in the proposed loop, it was brought out at the session. However, the tri-county loop proposal was not determined upon finally last night. Sponsors of the idea here said they would like to hear from more team sponsors.

Alec Samuels, president; Clem General, vice president; James Martin, secretary; Ed Connerly, treasurer; Honorary President W. G. Andrews and Ed Fritz, commissioner, were present, as were all the managers. Wampum sent a delegation of half a dozen boosters to the Lawrence loop meeting.

Wampum Wants Pennant
The officers of the league said they were willing to open up the loop and take in city teams, providing the city teams have the ability to cope with the county teams. Bessemer won the championship last season.

Wampum Medusas, winner of the second half but who lost out in the play-off for the championship, intend to have a strong team this season. The company has provided baseball suits and the Medusa Portland Cement company, sponsor, has nine employees on the sports committee. The president of the committee is Dan Allen; Frank Schubert, secretary, and John Garner, treasurer.

At a meeting held in Wampum, James Butchelli was named manager to succeed John Gaffney. In his younger days Butchelli was one of the best players in the district. The Medusas hope to take the measure of Bessemer and capture the flag this year, Butchelli reported.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

A few local sport briefs . . . We have been told to add the names of "Josh" Kaplan and Dan Troloar along with those who grace the upper bracket among local ping-pong-ers. According to the informant Kaplan can sidetrack anyone in the city . . . Shelton Bell, the dusky heavy from Youngstown, who appeared here several times, lost out in the Golden Gloves tourney in Chicago. Jimmy Reeves, a Cleveland, did the trick. Incidentally, Bell is a student at Wilberforce university . . . Mrs. Ruth Clarke, who is competing in her first dux-pin tourney, in Pittsburgh, did remarkably well considering the stiff opposition. Most of the female pin depositors are termed as "veterans." Still, the local young lady stepped up and slaughtered the chubby pins with a score of 844.

New Wilmington's downfall . . .
A dressing room underneath the Beaver Falls high gymnasium was filled with gloom. Nary a sound was audible as the New Wilmington high "Greyhounds" stepped out of their cage uniforms and prepared for their shower. One of the most disappointed persons was John Eagleson, coach of the Section 20 champs. "It just wasn't in the cards," the genial mentor said. "But the way we lost was heart breaking," he continued. That was the sad part of the game. With victory within their reach, Dame Misfortune stepped into the clash and shunned the Lawrence counts. With a minute and a half left, it still looked like a New Wilmington triumph. Predo gave Monaca the lead. Bob Newton, as sweet as sugar as ever pranced up and down the valley court, methodically dribbled down the floor and dropped in a one-handed shot. A mere few seconds saw the lead change again and remain in the hands of Monaca. The consensus of opinion was that the better team lost out. The score on the board counts, however, New Wilmington was praised to the sky. With a couple of hundred students to pick from, Eagleson molded a team that won its first sectional title and came within a few seconds from copping the Class B laurels . . . The game brought to a close the scholastic basketball season here.

Bessemer And Gersons Lose In Tournament

Keystone A. C. And N. Y. A. Win In Semi-Final Round On Wednesday Night

There will be a new City-County basketball championship team crowned this year. The N. Y. A. boys saw to that last night at the George Washington high floor by dumping the Gerson team, 1938 champs out of the tourney to the tune of 30 to 16 in a startling upset battle.

Hold On To Lead

The N. Y. A. team went to work in the first period and took a commanding lead at 8 to 3, and at the half had run the count to 12 to 8, through the fine playing of Scott and Nickie Ross.

In the third period the N. Y. A. kept up its fine work and had the score doubled 24 to 12 when the third period closed. In the fourth and final period the N. Y. A. team coasted content to hold the Gersons in check. Scott, Hartman and Sammy Deep were best for the N. Y. A. with Mumford the leading Gerson baller.

Keystones Top Bessemer

In the second game which was the best on the bill, the Keystone A. C. under the veteran Andy "Coots" Venditto took the measure of a hard fighting Bessemer Indies team to the tune of 33 to 27. The Keys had a hard time of it the first period which ended 4-4.

At the half the Keys were out in front 13 to 9. Bus Strausbaugh and Nocera sparked the Keys in the first two periods with 11 of the points. Anderson was the Bessemer stand-out.

The Bessemer boys came back fighting in the third period, and managed to stay four points behind as the third period closed 25 to 21. Play was fast and furious in the final session, with the veterans Strausbaugh and Nocera, aided by Rags Gennoek dumping in a flock of points. Glass, Anderson and Harold DeArment were the best for the Bessemer in the final two periods.

Donelli Named By Duquesne As New Grid Coach

Former Duke Star Fullback Succeeds Clipper Smith, Sinko Will Be First Assistant

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, March 16.—One of Pittsburgh's collegiate football coaching vacancies was filled today when Aldo T. (Buff) Donelli, one of the greatest backs in Duquesne University's history, assumed the role of athletic director and head football coach, succeeding the resigned John P. (Little Clipper) Smith.

Stephen P. Sinko, another Duke alumnus and former varsity footballer, was named as assistant coach. Appointment of the new athletic director and his first lieutenant was revealed by the Very Rev. J. J. Calahan, president of the school, who said it was "for the betterment of all concerned." The two other members of the coaching staff—Charles (Chick) Davies, varsity basketball coach and Lou Skender, freshmen football and basketball tutor—escaped the shakeup.

The salaries of the two new mentors were not disclosed, but it was estimated that Smith's contract, which had one more year to run, was somewhere in the neighborhood of $4,000 or $5,000.

Burro Basketeers In Secret Practice

Mayor's Team Is Getting In Trim For Coming Engagement At The Arena

Secret practice sessions are reported being held by Mayor McGrath's City Hall Demons and Miz Dart's Frail Firefighters for the most gigantic struggle of the century, when the two teams meet at burro basketball on the Arena floor, Monday evening, March 27.

In order that the spectators will know the players, it is stated that the latter will wear jockey caps, while the referee is attired in a green suit. The burros of course wear their shaggy coats and long ears.

The game is said to be one of the most exciting sports events that can be imagined, particularly when the burros decide to take matters into their own hands and run the game to suit themselves.

Capt. Dart, Frank Sargent, George Shello, George Harper and Jimmy Thomas will compose the starting team of the Frail Firefighters, and if they fail to hold down the City Hall Demons, Capt. Dart has the midget team, composed of Mummer, Chief McIlwain, Slim Clark, Frank Robinson, Ira Rhodes and Mickey Rohrer, while the third line of defense will feature the big boys, Herman Steinbrink, Skinny Pufford, George Murray, Archie Slovinsky and Oss Davies, with George Ward, Jack Clark, Walter McConnell, Perry McFarland, Norman McFarland, Frank Gorley and Roy Samuels in reserve.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL.

Only fifteen days left for you to get your ticket for the annual Sportsman Banquet to be held on the 30th day of this month... and will that be an affair. Really folks this party will be the high light of the State Sportsman Association Parties. Some of the big wigs will be here with their wit and serious talk and some of the finest wild life pictures in the world. So you must plan on attending and why not join the Lawrence County Sportsman Association... the dues are very small and the benefits are great. Bang, bang, here we go a hunting.

If I had a boy, I would say to him: "Son, Be fair and be square in the race you must run Be brave if you lose and be meek if you win Be better and nobler than I've ever been. Be honest and fearless in all that you do And honor the name that I have given to you." If I had a boy, I would want him to know We reap in this life just as we sow. And we get what we earn, be it little or great. Regardless of luck and regardless of fate. I would teach him and show him, the best that I could. That it pays to be honest and upright and good. I would make him a pal and a partner of mine. And show him the things in this world that are fine. I would show him the things that are wicked and bad. For I figured this knowledge should come from his dad. I would walk with him, talk with him, play with him, too. And to all of my promises strive to be true. We would grow up together and I'd be a boy And share in his trouble and share in his joy. We would work out our problems together and then We would lay out our plans when we both would be men. And oh, what a wonderful joy it would be! No pleasure in life could be greater to me.

STOCKS

Stock Market
Trend Is LowerMarket Loses Some Ground
In Trading Of Morning
—Several Factors

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 16.—The stock market continued to lose ground today after the break of 1 point yesterday, but initial declines were reduced in late dealings with a few leaders getting behind plus signs.

Added to the unsettlement of the latest central European crisis was the unfavorable influence of S. E. C. Chairman Douglas' rejection of proposals by the stock exchanges' conference to modify present securities laws.

Allied Chemical dropped more than 2 points at one time. Among representative issues to lose a point or more before meeting support were Chrysler, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, DuPont, Liggett & Myers "B", Howe Sound and International Harvester.

Aviations displayed independent strength. Douglas and United Aircraft climbed close to a point. Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Anaconda, Kennecott, U. S. Smelting, Sears Roebuck and N. Y. Central showed plus signs for a while.

Commodities were depressed by selling of Winnipeg wheat futures, which dropped to new lows for the season. Chicago grains also were lower, while cotton tumbled as much as 50 cents a bale.

Claim 80,000 Square Miles
In Antarctic for United States

By Central Press
VANCOUVER, B. C.—Eighty thousand square miles were added to United States territory by the recent Lincoln Ellsworth Antarctic Expedition, according to the three sun-tanned young explorers pictured as their party arrived in Vancouver aboard the Canadian-Australian liner Avon.

Dr. Rhoads announced that the new lands explored have general mineral possibilities. They are not volcanic.

Ellsworth made contact with the new territory at the 69th latitude south and the 79th longitude east, some 500 miles east of Enderby Island.

Several narrow escapes from disaster were experienced by the explorers. The closest came when ice stove a large hole in the bow of the 400-ton expedition ship Wyatt Earp, which the crew were able to patch up before the vessel could fill.

Germany also is claiming lands in the Antarctic as result of a recent expedition there in the Schwanenland.

German troops marched into St. Wenceslaus Square, Prague's main thoroughfare (above), as Hitler completed dismemberment of Czechoslovakia by establishing a "protectorate" over the Czech people. ## Tentative Plans On Damages For Viaduct Project

Conference On West Middlesex
Project Is Held At Mercer
Wednesday

(Special To The News)
MERCER, March 16.—Tentative plans for settlement of property damages that will be incurred by construction of the proposed viaduct over the Shenango river and two railroads at West Middlesex were made at a conference in Mercer today before Public Utilities Commission Engineer R. D. Bridges.

According to the plans that were discussed but not officially adopted and approved the damages will be divided between Mercer county and the Erie railroad and Pennsylvania railroad, each paying one-third of the damage claims.

The damage claims, filed by owners of property that will be used for the viaduct, total an estimated $36,000 to $40,000, T. H. Armstrong, West Middlesex borough solicitor, said.

Attending the conference were Mercer county commissioners, L. P. Struble, attorney for the Pennsylvania railroad; W. J. Foster, counsel for the Erie railroad; and E. E. Tribby, R. D. Bell and Thomas Walker of the West Middlesex borough council.

Bridges said that approval of the plans would have to be made by PUC before any official plans can be announced.

Farmers Income Somewhat Lower

U. S. Bureau Of Agricultural Economics Gives Figures
For Pennsylvania

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 16.—Pennsylvania farmers got off to a poor start this year so far as was concerned cash income from sales of principal farm products, according to figures collected by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The Bureau reported such income to Pennsylvania farmers as totaling $17,808,000 in January. This represented a decline of $1,449,000 or eight per cent, below January, 1938. In the country at large, on the other hand, such receipts declined only three per cent.

Cash income to Pennsylvania farmers from sale of principal crops fell from $4,560,000 in January 1938 to $3,904,000 in the same month this year. Receipts from sale of livestock and products dropped from $14,697,000 to $13,904,000. Federal payments to Pennsylvania farmers cooperating in the soil conservation program decreased from $9335,000 to $828,000.
